SHELDEN L. MARTIN, M.D.

ORTHOPEDIC SURGERY

A fellowship-trained orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Martin specializes in shoulder, elbow and knee surgery. He joined Desert Orthopedic Specialists, a division of OSNA, PLLC, after completing his orthopedic surgery training at Loyola University Medical Center in Chicago, and subspecialty fellowship training in orthopedic sports medicine at Carolinas Medical Center in Charlotte, N.C. He has worked with professional, collegiate and high school athletic teams, including the Carolina Panthers, Charlotte Knights, Joe Gibbs Racing team and University of North Carolina. Dr. Martin utilizes the most advanced techniques in shoulder and elbow arthroscopic and joint replacement surgery, as well as knee ligament reconstruction and cartilage transplant procedures. His research has been presented nationally and internationally, and published extensively in peer-reviewed literature.

Dr. Martin provides world-class patient care at Scottsdale Healthcare.
